Saviance Technologies launches Health Bytes: a HealthCare IT Newsletter

Health Bytes makes the latest Healthcare IT news and updates accessible to you at the click of a button

New Jersey (Sep 15, 2014) – Saviance Technologies, a New Jersey based Healthcare technology services company has recently launched a Healthcare IT Newsletter: Health Bytes. This newsletter will be the window into the latest developments, advancements, technologies, and other updates regarding the Healthcare IT sector for all stakeholders of the healthcare system.

A monthly publication, Health Bytes will keep all stakeholders in the healthcare sector updated through email. With so many advancements taking place in the healthcare sector, not just in the technology space but also on the front of Healthcare reform and policies, it becomes imperative for the key stakeholders of this arena to keep themselves aware about the newest developments. With the main aim of keeping these key decision makers updated about these developments to help in faster and more effective decision making, Health Bytes is an initiative that is sure to make waves in the Healthcare IT news and updates domain.

As a company that believes in meeting the unique challenges of the healthcare sector with innovative IT products and solutions, Saviance is always at the helm of pioneering initiatives that help not just our clients but also the larger healthcare community as well. As a step towards achieving this, Health Bytes is our attempt at bringing the healthcare community closer by sharing and communicating important news and updates.
